

Glen Garrity is a retired police detective and identity theft expert. In 1998 he was hired by the Newport Beach Police Department.

During Glen's 21 year career, he worked assignments including patrol, traffic investigator and burglary detective. He worked as a training officer, attained the level of master officer, and received two medals of merit for preventing two suicide attempts.

In 2008, Glen was part of a group of NBPD detectives who arrested 8 people in an identity theft ring. The suspects used fake credit cards with matching fake driver's licenses to steal over $1.1 million in products. This case was solved when one store trained its employees how to recognize a fraudulent identification.

Based on the success of this case, Glen created G2 Identity Management. Glen travels throughout educating businesses how to recognize a fraudulent identification before they are victimized and suffer a financial loss by the ID thief.

Glen currently resides in Orange County, CA., with his wife Karen and two daughters. He can be contacted at G2@g2identitymanagement.com.
