Biography

Andy Crisenbery oversees business operations supporting key areas of the company and leads the initiation of new programs at eLynx. As a member of the eLynx executive management team and reporting to the CEO, Andy provides leadership focused on eLynx services, partnerships, service quality and corporate security, with an emphasis on business insight and optimization.

He has extensive experience in data and document management technologies and solutions supporting the government and financial services communities.

His focus is continued progression of our customer and partner programs with emphasis on operational excellence and effective alignment with the company's direction. He regularly contributes to industry forums and organizations that define technical and operational standards supporting the legal, financial and real estate communities.

Andy came to eLynx in 2006 with 24 years of progressive management and technology-related experience that comprises all phases of software engineering and enablement with a focus on the financial services marketplace. He has worked extensively with large federal government and Fortune 500 companies in the financial services industry to define strategies for supporting the definition and evaluation of high-value document and data management projects.

About eLynx

eLynx, a portfolio company of American Capital (NASDAQ: ACAS), helps customers in the financial services and real estate industries capture and manage documents and associated data electronically throughout the document life cycle, ensuring compliance with industry regulations, reducing costs, improving workflow efficiency, and automating paper-intensive processes. The company's Expedite® cloud-based platform and network supports a comprehensive suite of on-demand document collaboration, distribution, and connectivity services that can be deployed independently or as a fully integrated end-to-end eMortgage solution.

eLynx serves more than 4,000 clients of all sizes worldwide, including 25 of the top 50 U.S. banks and maintains the largest and most comprehensive database of validated real estate agents in the U.S. More than 4 million users have adopted eLynx's enterprise document output solutions.

The company was founded in 1994 and is headquartered in Cincinnati, Ohio. It has offices and redundant data and print centers in Cincinnati and Beaverton, Oregon. For more information, visit www.elynx.com
