

Agents National Title Insurance Company

Farmers National Title Insurance Company is pleased to announce that beginning in 2009 the company will become Agents National Title Insurance Company.

Farmers National Title Insurance Company was founded to address the needs of independent title insurance agents in Missouri. Now that we are expanding into additional states to serve the needs of independent agents nationwide, it is necessary to re-name the company to reflect our mission of agent service.

Agents National Title Insurance believes in “Agents Only, Agents First.” There is no better way to put agents first than to make them first in our name. Many underwriters say they support agents, but only Agents National Title is willing to show that support by naming the company after those they support most.

Farmers National Title is a strong brand but does not represent what we stand for as a company. As we expand into additional markets, there will be no question as to where we stand in our business operations. Agents National Title will continue to provide the highest level of support to title insurance agents and consumers.

We are thankful of the support provided by our agents. Agents National Title Insurance Company is looking forward to serving agents for many years to come.

Agents National Title is currently licensed in Missouri and Indiana, with conditional approval in Arkansas and Mississippi, with applications pending in other states.
